

THE V-A-S-E.

From the madding crowd they stand apart,
The maidens four and the work of Art;
And none might tell from sight alone
In which had Culture ripest grown—
The Gotham Million fair to see,
The Philadelphia Pedigree,
The Boston Mind of azure hue,
Or the soulful Soul from Kalamazoo—
For all loved Art in a seemly way,
With an earnest soul and a capital A.
Long they worshipped; but no one broke
The sacred stillness, until up spoke
The Western one from the nameless place,
Who, blushing, said: "What a lovely vase."
Over three faces a sad smile flew.

And they edged away from Kalamazoo,
But Gotham's haughty soul was stirred
To crush the stranger with one small word.
Deftly hiding reproach in praise,
She cries: "'Tis, inde, a lovely vase!"
But brief her unworthy triumph, when
The lofty one from the house of Penn.
With a consciousness of two grandpas,
Exclaims: "It is quite a lovely vase!"
And glances round with an anxious thrill,
Awaiting the word of Beacon Hill.
But the Boston maid smiles courteous,
And gently murmurs: "Oh, pardon me!
I did not catch your remark, because
I was so entranced with that charming vase!"

—James Jeffrey Reche in Life.

How they cry for help as you turn the pages of some interesting book, near the midnight hour.
How they blink and wink as the bright sunlight traveling ten feet from the glowing pavement, or its $5,000,000 miles through space, hurles its rays upon a delicate and over-worked retina.
If your eyes could talk they would lead you to our doors, and later thank you for the relief and comfort, and easy restful vision our glasses afford.

failed. Now Mrs. Weisman says that Mrs. Morrill has been slandering her and is in court to obtain $25,000 for the alleged false stories circulated.

PERSONAL NOTES.

The marriage of A. Gartenberg of Honolulu to Miss Celia Abrahamson of California will take place soon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hughes of Palo Alto will spend a few weeks in Honolulu. They have been prominent in the Shrine festivities here.

Allan Herbert returns on the Zealandia after a month's stay in California. He spent several days in Santa Barbara and Summerland, where he has land interests, and also visited Niles. Dr. St. D. G. Walters, his son-in-law, arrived here three days ago and accompanied Mr. Herbert on the Zealandia.

Dr. Walters is in robust health, looks stronger and is in better spirits than for many years. His six weeks in the wilds of Siskiyou county have restored him wonderfully. He spent his time in fishing and hunting, and brought down a three-pronged buck, the first in his life. The doctor does not admit to having had the deer fever when he saw his prey, but as this disease afflicts all new deer stalkers his silence is interpreted as proof of his illness. He and Mr. Herbert have been at the California Hotel for the last few days and have had a jolly time together.

Otto Schmidt, the chemist and sugar expert, who is superintendent of the Californian & Hawaiian Sugar Company's refinery at Crockett, Cal., has been here for a day or two. He is a familiar figure in Hawaii, where he was long associated with Colonel Spaulding on Kauai.

The San Jose Mercury copies the obituary of Mrs. Elmer E. Richards, published in the Hilo Herald about June 6. Mrs. Richards was well known in San Jose before her marriage. Her maiden name was Lillian Schoen. She first went to Hawaii twelve years ago as a teacher at Walluku.

Franklin Austin is now an advertising solicitor for the Overland Monthly, which prints boom articles on counties and sections of California, at so much per page. Austin says he is making a good living, and is working on his book on Hawaii whenever he gets a chance. He has permanently abandoned the lecture platform as he found the people "unresponsive to the message he had for them." He will not live in Hawaii again unless he is called there by the "voice of the populace," or can make a better thing of it there.

C. O. Ziegenfuss, formerly city editor of the defunct Goat, and editor of the Democratic campaign weekly during the campaign in which Wilcox was elected, is prospering in Manila. He is still editor of the Manila American, and lately put a new dress of type on his paper. Ziegenfuss was in the hospital with dengue fever for some weeks in May but recovered his strength. In a letter to a friend in Fresno he says that the cholera, which killed nearly 5000 people in the Philippines, is about over for the season.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—All the hullabaloo raised by the Chronicle against the coming of Japanese laborers here from Hawaii will come to naught. Though the invasion is undoubted, and the harm done Hawaii by the exodus is great, there is no remedy at this end, as stated by the Chronicle. Japanese laborers have as much right to come to California from Hawaii as have Irishmen resident in Nevada to step across the State line to California. As Hawaii is an integral part of the Union, and as there is no restriction against laborers being engaged by contract to go from one State or Territory to another, the little brown men have a perfect legal right to come and go as they please between here and the Islands.

Hart H. North, United States Commissioner of Immigration, says:

"At the time of the annexation of the Islands, it was only by special amendment to the act that Chinese were denied the privilege of coming into this country, while no provision was made against Japanese. It is true that ever since the annexation of the Islands there has been a constantly increasing immigration of Japanese coolies from there into the United States, but there is no way to stop it except by special legislation; the Japanese have the same privilege as all other citizens. If it were known that Japanese laborers were being brought under contract, in violation of the immigration laws, from Japan to the Hawaiian Islands, they might properly be stopped there, but coming from the Islands into this country they are not within the jurisdiction of the commissioner of immigration here.

"The census report of 1900 showed the Japanese population of the Hawaiian Islands to be 5,111, and according to the Federal Constitution the citizens of all States or Territories have equal privileges of exit or ingress, consequently the Japanese of Hawaii are as free to come into California as if they came from Nevada or any other State. So, waiving the question whether or not they are a menace to the industrial progress of the States, their immigration is not at present in violation of any law."

San Francisco Bulletin says:

"Such amusement was created in the United States Immigration Bureau over an editorial in the morning issue of a daily paper calling attention to the fact that Japanese laborers under contract to work in California were arriving and preparing to arrive at this port from Hawaiian Territory. The editorial states: 'All of these coolies are coming under contract in violation of the immigration laws which strictly forbid the admission of contract laborers. If these people are allowed to enter it will be through some subterfuge devised and adopted for the evasion of the immigration laws.'

"Deputy Immigrant Commissioner Schell, in speaking of the matter yesterday, said: 'These people will be allowed to enter. More than that, their right to enter cannot be questioned. We have no right to detain or interfere with them at all, no more than we have to examine white persons coming from Missouri or Oregon under contract to labor in California. Hawaii is a part of the United States, and we do not board steamers coming from Honolulu or Seattle. We must not interfere with Sacramento Valley farmers contracting with laborers in San Francisco.'

"Captain Schell explained further that there is a popular misconception regarding the Japanese immigrants. The truth is that the Japanese immigrant stands on the same footing as Irish, French, German or English immigrants, and there is no exclusion law against them.

"The Chronicle's assertions that there is a ring of contractors and Japanese boarding masters who have planned to bring thousands of Japanese plantation workers here, are true beyond doubt. I have made investigations myself for the Advertiser, which satisfy me that the importation scheme is a gigantic one, and the profits expected are tremendous. These Japanese are being enticed from their happy homes in Hawaii by the bait of big wages, as high as $1.75 a day being offered them for field work. There will be ample work, too, for all coming here, at least for a few months, as there never was such a dearth of help in the history of California.

"It is a peculiar fact that for the past six years many more Chinese have been landed at this port than Japanese, notwithstanding that there is an exclusion law against Chinese and none against Japanese."

The Chronicle's assertions that there is a ring of contractors and Japanese boarding masters who have planned to bring thousands of Japanese plantation workers here, are true beyond doubt. I have made investigations myself for the Advertiser, which satisfy me that the importation scheme is a gigantic one, and the profits expected are tremendous. These Japanese are being enticed from their happy homes in Hawaii by the bait of big wages, as high as $1.75 a day being offered them for field work. There will be ample work, too, for all coming here, at least for a few months, as there never was such a dearth of help in the history of California.

All up and down the State the farmers, fruit growers, canners and shippers are crying for laborers to assist in the marketing of the biggest fruit and vegetable crop ever known. Twenty thousand Japanese can get immediate employment for the summer.

But when the harvest is over, there would be many seeking jobs. If ten thousand Japanese were brought here from Hawaii they would relieve the strain in the labor market, and after several months, they would so depress the same market that white labor would be forced to work for a pittance. Riots would inevitably result, and the little brown chaps would be black and blue.

So strong is the principle of unionism in California today that the Japanese would have a very hard time of it, and would wish for the quiet home-like surroundings in Hawaii. There they can make for themselves a bit of Japan, and dwell in the manner of their folks in Nippon, but let them try to fashion things Japanese here, and the walking delegate will so stir up the common people against them that they will be most unhappy, and filled with longings for the Islands.

All these truths should be published in Hawaii by the Japanese papers there, and the Japanese Consul should impress them upon his countrymen, for the temper of Californians is proverbially quick against Asiatics, and with a new Chinese exclusion law just passed, the people are in no mood to withstand a flood of competitors of another Oriental race.

We have now the best of times in California but two or three years might change the conditions, and those who recall the days of '34 and '35 when men could not get work at any price, will foresee the predicament into which the energetic Japanese might get themselves by emigrating here in great numbers. There is always work in Hawaii for them, and for that work a certainty of good living and fair treatment.

WEDDED AT NOON.

Thomas H. Lillie and Miss Rowley Married at Cathedral.

Before a company of friends vows were said which wed Miss Florence Stewart Rowley and Mr. Thomas Holtum Lillie, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, at noon Saturday. After the wedding there was a reception in the parlors of the hotel which was followed by a wedding breakfast. For the latter the table was decorated in white and green throughout.
